JUST ABOUT OVER—A lazy summer afternoon with a good book, nothing to look forward to except more lazy summer afternoons lying in the deep growth of a remote hillside—all this is coming to an end for Andy Fremier. School is about to reopen. And these idyllic afternoons will be over. Today's Pine Cone carries some back-to-school ideas, most of which Andy would not find as absorbing as what he is reading here. Andy is the son of the young Carmel photographer Roger Fremier.

Fairground Gates Reluctantly Close On Record 1969 Fair

It was a great fair. It was throngs of brightly-clad happy visitors strolling through templed aisles, filling past beguiling exhibits of the best of Monterey County's fruits, flowers and vegetables.

It was carnival rides and shouts of merriment until nearly midnight on each of the five days, as swirls of soft gray fog rolled above the bright midway lights.

It was lavender poodles and bright scarlet plush tigers and pastel-hued balloons, the gifts of the midway to fairgoers.

It was Margarita Luisa Castro, daughter of history —“and I married into history, too, honey”—tirelessly strolling every avenue of the more than 22 acres of fairgrounds in a different Spanish costume each day of the five-day fair, smiling and greeting fair visitors.

Her costumes were heirlooms, gleaned from ancient Boronda and Castro wardrobes, some of them redesigned by Mrs. Castro, but all of them fashioned of priceless imported laces, and topped by cobwebby mantillas caught to combs of fragile silver or tortoiseshell and accented with authentic gold and silver jewelry.

Margarita Castro has been coming to Monterey's fairs “since I was 10 years old, honey, and my mother used to bring me,” which makes her a veteran of more than 60 years of fairs—long before they became officially the Monterey County Fair.

It was small boys talking coaxingly to little stray dogs outside the fairgrounds fence Thursday, when a pet was a ticket of admission for a youngster.

It was five stately Calafias, in regal gold and white costumes, greeting fair visitors, presenting trophies and presiding at special fair functions.

It was Georgia Abbot of Castroville winning 66 prizes for the flowers which bloom on the Abbot ranch on Meridian Road “where it's hard to grow things because we have such miserable weather,” she says.

It was a grand champion beef selling at $1.20 a pound and a grand champion lamb going for $3 a pound at the junior livestock auction.

It was 112,576 visitors whirling turnstiles to a new attendance record for Monterey County Fairs—23,768 of them coming on Sunday which was 4,161 more than on Sunday in 1968.

This was the 1969 Monterey County Fair.

City Council Lops $30,000 From Proposed Budget In 2 Sessions

By Gunnar Norberg

After two long evening meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday, the Carmel City Council tentatively cut a little less than three per cent out of a preliminary 1969-70 city budget of nearly $1,120,000. It is a bit unclear as to whether the reductions in the many pages of the proposed budget with which the Council had dealt totaled a little less or slightly more than $30,000.

By one reckoning they came to $27,567 and by another they came to $30,567. Since actions so far are not final, the difference mentioned is not critical, and further adjustments will probably be made next Tuesday night when the Council will hold its next session.

In preparation for its meeting, the Council's committee on public welfare (Councilmen Eben Whittlesey and Ken Brown) was directed to study and report on a possible change in the allocation of some of the City's hostelry tax revenue.

The portion involved goes into a fund to make improvements at the city-owned Sunset Center. The proposed change—presented last night by Councilman Herbert Blanks—would divide this portion—now worth some $31,000 a year—between improvements at the Forest Theater and Sunset Center, and a small amount for what Blanks called “advertising.”

A draft of an ordinance to make the change mentioned was read to the Council by City Administrator Hugh Bayless. This touched off a discussion of whether or not the City should contribute to the Carmel Business Association.

At its Tuesday meeting, the Council had cut a proposed budget allocation of $2,400 to the Association in half.

Ashton Stanley made a plea on behalf of the Association for a restoration of the full $2,400 allocation, pointing out the cost to the Association of responding to a flood of letters which otherwise could become a burden on the City administration.

Basically, the reluctance of the City Council through the years to give funds to the Business Association has been founded upon the thesis that Carmel should continue to emphasize its character as a residential community.

Councilman Brown said he thought the City should help the Business Association “a little bit.” Councilman Whittlesey's reply to this was that he would “rather pay it in dues.” At this point, Mayor Barney Laiolo referred the Business Association

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Here we are in the middle of the tourist season, a period of time which in other areas is called summer. With crowded streets and sidewalks, there is little a helpless native can do other than fighting his way into the Post Office for his mail and then come to the library for a bit of quiet and a few good books. Summer is when we get in our licks for fair, and we love it!

So here is a clever book by Lavinia Russ which is entitled The Girl on the Floor Will Help You.

In this case the girl on the floor is the salesperson in a bookstore full of children's books. And this particular book is full of wise and witty words on children's books and the people who write them plus the people who read them, the latter sort being children. She speaks strongly of the way to go about getting children to read good books, and she speaks feelingly on classic books and how hard they are to read and enjoy and how they should be avoided because the children's books being written today are simply great and easier to read.

The entire book is very happyfying. And finally Mrs. Russ talks about the book Little Women which has been a favorite for more than a hundred years and she says will be a favorite for hundreds more.

You want to know the reason why it will endure?

Because the characters in it are good people, that's why. She says children just naturally love to read about good people. Which may be the hope of the human race.

A new addition to the Thomas Close poetry collection is The Complete Poems of Randall Jarrell.

The author is a versatile writer, having done a novel, several books for children, a collection of essays, and much poetry. These poems are lovely perceptive things. But do you ever get lonely for poetry with rhyme? I do.

During the long trek of the Mormons across the country there was included in their band a Mormon Militia. Since the Mormon faith is bound to the doctrine of non-violence, there were deep and long lasting contradictions for the members of the Militia. All this and more are handled in The Armies of God by Paul Bailey.

This is the story of the journey of the Saints and the military men who tried to protect them on their way.

My Friends the Wild Chimpanzees is by Jane Lawick-Goodall who went to Africa in 1960 to make a study of the primates living near Lake Tanganyika. Grants from the National Geographic Society helped defray expenses.

Her book is really beautiful for it is filled with color photographs of the chimpanzees against the background of the lake country.

Now that the summer is almost over, our copy of Travel Ideas, 1969, has arrived. Included here are ideas for fifty family vacations, the pile - the - kids - in - the - car and - take - off type of vacation.

Carmel is mentioned briefly, which is probably a good thing, we have enough visitors as it is. But we deserve a little more coverage. The whole thing is put out by Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

I did mean to mention also Two Thousand Years in Rome by Richard Mertz, which is a chronological guide to the city, placing all its art and architecture in historical perspective.

But since I have no more space, I won't bring the matter up at all. Thirty.

Ansel Adams At Hi-12 Luncheon

World renowned photographer and conservationist Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands was the featured speaker at High Twelve Club's Monday luncheon meeting.

Adams first saw Yosemite in 1916 during a visit with his parents. He joined the Sierra Club in 1918 and has since been fundamentally interested in acquainting people with Yosemite and at the same time promoting every possibility to conserve this wilderness area.

One of the great problems in Yosemite has been roads which originally were dirty and dusty leaving a dusty covering over plantings nearby. This situation was relieved when roads were paved but now the road engineers leave great scars in their effort to provide access.

Adams suggests that such roads are now obsolete and access should be by helicopter or cable.

Other problems to be combatted in Yosemite include drifts of smog which have even destroyed trees at Franklin Pass. Pesticides have killed birds, bugs, fish and flowers. Uncontrolled sanitation problems have polluted streams from which we can no longer drink.

Adams said "our earth is

MIFS Appoints 4 New Trustees

Four new appointments to the board of trustees of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies have been announced by Mrs. C. Mark Thomas, board chairman.

The new trustees are Dr. Carl Spaeth, law professor at Stanford University, and three Monterey Peninsula residents: Mrs. Robert O. McMahan, Lewis Fenton and Laurence P. Horan.

Dr. Spaeth, who is William Nelson Cromwell professor of law and director of the Committee on International Studies at Stanford, served as dean of the Stanford Law School from 1946 to 1962.

Mrs. McMahan moved to the Monterey Peninsula from Fresno four years ago and she and her husband now make their home in Pebble Beach. Mrs. McMahan has been active in a number of civic activities in both communities, including the Junior League, the symphony associations and the museums of art.

Horan, Carmel attorney, served two years as Western regional director for the Office of Economic Opportunity, and prior to that was director of the Peace Corps in Costa Rica and in Columbia. He is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, where he also obtained his law degree.

A Monterey attorney, Fenton is a member of the board of trustees of the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District and was founding president of the York School, an Episcopal boys school in Monterey.

Earl L. Robinson

John O. Clanin

Robinson, Clanin Head Pebble Beach Crocker Office

Crocker-Citizens National Bank's Pebble Beach office has as its new head officers Earl L. Robinson, assistant vice president and manager and John O. Clanin, assistant manager.

Robinson joined the bank in July, 1964, following his retirement as a lieutenant commander from the United States Navy. He had served 22 years as a naval aviator. He entered the Crocker-Citizens administrative training program and, upon completion of that training the following year, was assigned as manager of the Paso Robles office.

Born in Detroit, Robinson attended Marquette University.

He is a member of the Retired Officers Association and the American Institute of Banking. In Paso Robles, Robinson was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club. He also dedicates much of his spare time to the Boy Scouts of America.

A native of Bakersfield, Clanin joined Crocker-Citizens in 1957 at the main office there. He served at various other offices, and in 1966 entered the bank's operations supervisor training program in San Francisco. Upon completion of that program, he was named operations supervisor at the Corte Madera office. Prior to his assignment as assistant manager of the Pebble Beach office, Clanin served as operations supervisor at the Carmel office.

He attended Bakersfield College.

Paik To Address CRTA

All retired teachers and their guests are invited to attend the big monthly luncheon meeting of the Monterey County division of the California Retired Teachers Association. It will be held on Aug. 20 at 12:15 p.m. at I.O.O.F. Hall, situated on Fourth Street (next to Post Office) in Gonzales.

Speaker will be Harkjoon Paik, newly appointed public defender of Monterey County, who will talk about the duties of his office.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made by Aug. 16 with Mrs. James Walker, 424-6566 (Salinas.)

An ad in the Pine Cone has a 7-times-better chance to be read than an ad in a daily newspaper.

With Bob Wood In Sacramento

The Legislative Session is drawing to a close, although both our Salinas office and our Sacramento office will remain open. Our Sacramento office in the Capitol building will remain open on a skeleton basis only.

Those who should know tell me that interim committee meetings, veto session, and others will possibly keep me in Sacramento or in whatever city the Committee gathers 10 days or so each month.

If the Governor decides to call a special session to work on a particular, major item such as tax reform, then the time spent in Sacramento this fall could be greatly increased. I don't really know what the Governor intends to do. As of this writing, I wouldn't blame him a bit if he called a special session. It takes 54 votes to pass a tax reform program. The majority party has only 41 at best. In other words, the tax reform program must be drawn to satisfy two-thirds of the Assembly, regardless of party affiliations.

I think all assemblymen, regardless of party affiliation, wish they could return home with a good tax reform program. Several programs have been studied extensively, including the Governor's. But none of the programs studied has received acceptance of both political parties.

The Legislators may not have agreed on a Tax Reform program, but I am convinced the majority of this lawmaking body has become very "water quality," "air quality," and "environmental quality" conscious.

Constituents are vitally interested about the creeks they can't fish in and the places their children can't swim. The Legislature has passed vastly improved enforcement procedures, including placing civil court action in the hands of the California Attorney General, and offering fines up to $6,000 per day for pollution of the State's waters. The Act, as passed by the Legislature and recently signed into law by the Governor, will stand as a tribute to those far-thinking citizens who could protect, as well as develop, the resources of our Golden State.

I can't help but feel that you people within our own Monterey County, along with Santa Cruz County, have been leaders in helping to create this environmental conscious State.

Surprise:
Seven
Ways to Save.

Two bonus banking hours are enjoyed by UCB Carmel customers. We're open until 5 Monday through Thursday. Until 6 on Friday. This gives customers more time to mull over the many fine options which are offered to them in UCB savings. The rush-in-rush-out customer still does well at any UCB office. But for people who are serious about saving money, there are new things to think about. Manager Don Nelson of UCB's Carmel office on Ocean Avenue reports that customers are still surprised to learn that they are offered no less than seven good ways to save. There are four ways in which savers can earn 5% — with solid bank safety as a big plus. Don says: "One of the very popular UCB savings plans is the 5-year Growth Bond. This accrues interest at the guaranteed rate of 5% a year, compounded daily, with an effective yield of 5.68% when held to maturity.

Another popular plan with Carmel savers is the UCB 5-Year Income Bond. These are available in units of $5,000 and up and provide a steady 5% income per year. Interest is paid quarterly by check, or deposited to the saver's own checking or savings account."

This is the kind of flexible savings offered by UCB — the full service bank with the bonus banking hours. Open until 5 Monday through Thursday. Until 6 on Friday.

Peggy Edwards Here From Greece

Skiing at Innsbruck during Christmas vacation, a visit to the huge bazaars of Istanbul during Easter vacation, and camping with her family or youth hosteling all over Europe were among the dividends for Peggy Edwards of spending the last two years near Athens, Greece where her father, Warren Edwards, was principal of the American High School there.

It was interesting too, going to school with classmates not only from all over the United States, but from the Argentine and other parts of America.

She studied modern Greek and learned enough so that she could carry on a conversation.

During vacations the family would take the Orient Express from Athens to Munich or Vienna, always ending up at Innsbruck. Here the family enjoyed skiing.

The high point of family camping was reached when they visited Istanbul with the "Buzz" Rainers and another family.

Here they saw the huge indoor and outdoor bazaars where brasses and gargantuan gunny sacks of spices were sold.

Here also she was able to buy an embroidered Afghanisatn sheepskin jacket for $18, with a couple of hats "thrown in."

Although Ataturk has Europeanized the country to a great extent, said Peggy, there are few women to be seen and evidence of "this unique culture and religion is everywhere as you see the minarets towering in the sky."

Peggy plans to attend UC San Diego this fall, but first she and her brother Bill will go on a backpacking trip in the Sierras with the Sierra Club.

The family, she said, is headquartered at their summer place in Santa Cruz.

While she is in Carmel, Peggy is staying with Mrs. Virginia Smithson, the mother of one of her CHS classmates, Jacqueline Smithson, who traveled all over Europe with her this summer before going to Israel where she will work in a kibbutz before returning to college in the fall.

She will see her godmother, Evelyn Sharp, who resigned as biology teacher from the high school recently, the Dan Yurkovitch family, and various classmates.

Parties for Donna Woods and Jim Hatlo

A whirl of Pebble Beach parties is preceding the wedding next week of Miss Donna Rand Woods and James Bradley Hatlo, popular young couple.

Unusual Renaissance and Baroque music is planned for the afternoon wedding at All Saints' Episcopal Church on August 23.

Scottish bagpipers will "pipe in" the couple at the reception following the wedding at the Pebble Beach home of Donna's parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Woods.

Donna and Jim, their attendants and parents will start the dancing with some Scottish dances they have been practicing. Later Mike Marotta's orchestra will take over.

Yesterday Donna was honored by a Scottish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Janice Niebel at which all the guests including Donna, her sister Katie and her young hostess, Miss Christie Niebel, were dressed in kilts.

A father-daughter dinner was given Donna last evening by Miss Joan Carpenter, one of her attendants, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Carpenter. The dinner-shower was held at John Gardiner's Tennis Ranch.

A dozen or more University of Southern California classmates will be coming up to join local friends for a buffet party at the home of Miss Marcia McMahan, a USC student, daughter of the Robert McMahan.

Among them will be Larry Buzaid who will be Jim's best man and Lee Dick, one of his ushers. The three attended Robert Louis Stevenson School together and have attended USC for the past three years. Another usher, Dave Roberts, Jim's roommate at USC for three years, will also be present.

On Donna's birthday, August 20th, a tea dance will be given for the bridal pair by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bunn.

Lee Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dick, is planning a champagne cocktail party on Thursday, to be followed by a dinner party at the home of another usher, Bill Hammonds, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Coe.

Jim's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Lusignan, will give a pre-rehearsal luncheon for the bridal party at the Tennis Ranch on Friday. That evening all will join the big dinner dance at the Beach Club given by Mr. and Mrs. Alger Chaney for Louise von Hasseln.

Louise, daughter of Dr. Edmund von Hasseln and the late Mrs. von Hasseln, is one of three Monterey Peninsula girls who will bow at the San Francisco Cotillion this year.

The others, Sheila Hatley, daughter of the Arthur Hatleys' and Karen Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Mark Thomas, will also be among Donna's attendants the following day.

Up with People

Mrs. Thomas Roper of Carmel who has been chaperoning one of the international casts of "Up with People," has returned from an intoxicating trip to Europe during which the young people in her charge sang before enormous crowds of people as well as many of the crowned heads of Europe.

Carmel School Board Votes 16-Cent Reduction In Tax Rate

by Margot Hyatt

The Carmel Unified School Board last week voted 4-1 for a $3,876,746 budget that would reduce the property tax rate by 16 cents, from $2.90 to $2.74 per $100 assessment value.

The dissenting vote was by board president Steven H. Sassoon who objected to the addition of $119,526 to the tentative budget on July 9 when it was learned that district revenues would be greater than anticipated.

He objected also to the addition of $60,000 to the reserves last week for a bus garage at Carmelo School to relieve the inadequate, congested facility at the high school.

The $119,526 addition to the tentative budget on July 9 had restored a $25,000 cut in instructional, building, grounds and maintenance funds to meet the four per cent cost-of-living salary demands of teachers and district employees.

It had added another two per cent salary readjustment, promised if funds became available, and placed $45,570 more in the undistributed reserves which had been reduced to what most board members felt was a very low level. Of this figure, $17,000 was earmarked for implementation of a drug abuse program.

Harold C. Arnot of Carmel Point, president of the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association, quoted in full elsewhere, criticized the use of the property tax as a way to finance schools, and the budget before the trustees.

He compared the higher cost of Carmel average daily attendance with those of Pacific Grove and Monterey.

Supt. Harris A. Taylor pointed out that Carmel teachers need more money to live in the Carmel area where housing costs are high; that class sizes are smaller than in nearby districts; and that transportation costs are greater because of the size of the district (nearly 600 square miles).

Sassoon suggested a more detailed analysis to justify the higher ADA figure which Taylor said he would prepare.

The increase in district revenues is said to be due to the addition to tax rolls of the huge Comstat installation in the Carmel Valley, the new Safeway Shopping Center at the Valley mouth and the new United California Bank and other additions to Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

State refunds totalled same $30,000 and unsecured taxes $10,000.

In addition there was reassessment of property in Carmel Woods, Carmel Highlands from Carmel River past Mal Paso Creek, Rio Vista and Carmel Knolls, and south side of Tularcitos Rancho, according to senior appraiser Kenneth Dettman.

Supt. Dr. Harris A. Taylor was given two months leave by the Carmel School Board last week to serve as an educational consultant in the Middle East country of Jordan.

He had not taken a vacation since coming to the district three years ago.

His work will be in the area of curriculum for nearly all education levels to enable Jordan to qualify for a $50,000,000 loan from the World Bank.

Getchells Visit From Indonesia

Playing badminton in a country that produces the world's leading badminton team was one of the diversions of a Peninsula man, John S. Getchell of Carmel, who has just returned from his post with the U. S. Information Agency in Djakarta.

The Indonesians are world champions in badminton, he says. Getchell and his family are spending their home leave in Carmel with William A. Farner.

As public affairs officer

FREE PUBLIC SCHOOL

John Swett, in his 13th annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in 1863 wrote: "Our American system of free schools is based upon two fundamental principles: First: That it is the duty of a republican or representative government, as an act of self-preservation, to provide for the education of every child. Second: That the property of the State should be taxed to pay for that education."

in Djakarta, Getchell supplied American material to more than 50 newspapers, and the Government-controlled radio and television networks. He will return there after his vacation in Carmel and Honolulu.

Mrs. Getchell, the former Augusta Todd Clifford of Cambridge, Massachusetts, was very active in Djakarta community life. She was a member of the board of the Women's International Club, which devotes itself to welfare problems. Most of the members were non-American. The couple has two children; Ann Murray and John.

Before joining USIA, Getchell was with the U. S. Army. With USIA, he has served in Bordeaux, Saigon, Phnom Penh, Bangui and Djakarta. He is one of the U. S. Information Agency's 1500 foreign service officers stationed in more than 100 countries.

FIRST CALIFORNIA JC

Fresno Junior college, established in 1910, was the first JC in California. Actually, it was a limited extension of high school classes. Since then, California has established 86 junior colleges enrolling 627,874 full and part-time students this fall.

AUSTRALIA'S FISHING CENTER (First of Two Parts)

From the tropical lands of its northern extremities to the moist, sub-tropical climate of the southern end, the Australian state of Queensland is big country—more than twice as big as

Texas, and even bigger than Alaska and Idaho combined.

This land—roughly one-quarter of the total area of Australia—is so diverse that its coastal fishing opportunities alone stagger the imagination.

Queensland is closer to the equator than is the United States (except for Florida and the tip of Texas), so it's easy to see why most of the fishing falls into the "tropical" category, and why these hundreds of miles of coastline attract visitors in increasing numbers.

Inland fishing, for black bream and sleepy cod, mountain trout, the eel-tailed jew and the mouth-all-mighty, occupy anglers all year round. But there's no doubt in any one's mind that the coastal fishing is what's worth writing home about.

From Coolangatta and Tweed Heads, where Queensland touches the province of New South Wales, through Murwillumbah, Coboolture, Guthalunga, and other tongue-twisters to its northern terminus near Cairns, Highway 1 might well be called Fishing Road instead of Bruce Highway as it is formally named.

Queensland is the sunshine state of Australia and it's complete with a "Gold Coast" area—the southern portion, around the capital of Brisbane. From there north to Karumba on the Gulf of Carpentaria, it doesn't matter where you go—you'll find you can catch fish throughout the year.

Although the population of Australia is less than that of the greater New York metropolitan area (and only slightly smaller than the entire state of California), visitors will find excellent facilities for tourists, especially along the coast. At many points in Queensland, as well as other states, you for deep sea fishing, and may charter motor cruisers rent small boats and tackle.

MPVS Grants $3000 To Lyceum

A gift of $3,000 has been given to the Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula by the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services to assist in its current educational program.

The Lyceum is motivated by its belief that intellectually gifted students are the leaders of tomorrow and offers extra-curricular seminars, workshops and tutorials in the Arts, Sciences, Humanities and Music in an attempt to bring together talented adults of the community and young students of high academic ability and promise. Founded in 1960, the Lyceum serves all public, private and parochial schools of the Monterey Peninsula.

The sum was recommended by the Finance Committee of MPVS, approved by the Executive Board and voted by the membership at the general meeting of Aug. 1, held at the USO in Monterey.

The sum of $1500.00 was also voted to assist in the work of Reality House in Seaside, a home for girls with environmental problems, and a second payment of $600.00 advanced to Family Service Agency toward the pledge from MPVS of $1,800 to assist in the work of the Agency.

Hidden Valley Music Seminars Provide Exciting Concert At All Saints'

The dynamic young conductor, Dr. Michael Zearott, led his teenage Hidden Valley Concert Orchestra through a tough Beethoven program which would have taxed a mature orchestra, and left his audience on its feet clamoring for more.

The concert which included Italian madrigals and the Mozart Missa Brevis sung by the Hidden Valley Concert Choral led by John Waddell, was the first of four Sunday evening concerts to be held this month at All Saints' Episcopal Church.

The program began with a double brass choir split between the sanctuary and the back of the church and led by music professor Cora Lauridsen.

This was followed by a group of Italian madrigals sung a cappella by the Choral guided by John Waddell.

These were delightfully light and airy or more sustained and intricate, depending on the mood of the text.

The Beethoven First Symphony started off solidly in disciplined rhythmic fashion and continued with the singing andante movement. A fast minuetto was a showcase for dramatic crescendos on the part of the strong string section. Every advantage was taken of all the contrasts in the last movement which led to an exciting finish.

Mozart's Missa Brevis in F Major, accompanied only by four instrumentalists, followed intermission.

Nick Grant's violin playing was outstanding throughout the evening. The others were Randall Bare at the piano, Paul Krause and Dan Reiter on violin and cello.

While this work was a bit ambitious for the four youthful soloists, Gale Oliver, soprano; Martha Ferguson, alto; Eddy Soto, tenor, and Scott Carlton, bass, the overall work by the Choral was excellent. All were responsive to the inherent contrasts in the music which sounded unexpectedly secular for a religious mass.

The evening ended with the orchestra playing Beethoven's Leonore Overture No. 3, again the brilliant violin section contributing to the excitement inspired by the conductor.

Dr. Zearott has just returned from Monte Carlo where he has a post with the national orchestra there as assistant to Igor Markevitch, which he won as a result of the Dmitri Mitropoulos competition.

He has an interesting style to watch, rather stiff and soldier-like until he wants a contrast, when his whole body goes into a sudden thrust which achieves the effect he wants.

Rigorous Schedule At Hidden Valley Music Seminars

A stiff program of rehearsals, music theory and music history is followed during the five-week period of the intensive Hidden Valley Music Seminars.

Especially talented students drawn from high schools from all over the country, first nominated by their teachers and then auditioned, the group this year includes 22 members of the Hidden Valley Concert Choral and 38 members of the Concert Orchestra.

Rehearsals begin at eight in the morning and last until noon. Again in the evening, students rehearse for several hours.

Haymo Taeuber, Monterey County Symphony director,

HIDDEN VALLEY CONCERT ORCHESTRA—Rehearses in the new three-story library at York School. Mrs. Walter Lehmann and Mrs. Charles Trumbly of Carmel, devoted to the encouragement of these gifted teenagers, may be seen in the background sitting with one of the music seminar instructors, Prof. Cora Lauridsen. Also present was Mrs. Hascal Stewart of Carmel.

OPERA WORKSHOP—Chris Hugerland, Helen Wheeler, Jean Canada and Joe Messineo will be main soloists to be heard at the Forest Theater, Sunday, Aug. 17 at 2 p.m.

Opera Workshop At Forest Theater

A program of music from both opera and Broadway musicals will be presented on Sunday, Aug. 17 at 2 p.m. at the Forest Theater, located at Mountain View and Santa Rita, Carmel. The program of the Monterey Peninsula Opera Workshop, under the direction of Nancy Ness Bowman, is the seventh of the 1969 Free Summer Sunday Afternoon Concert Series.

The Opera Workshop, organized by Mrs. Bowman nine years ago has given many concerts in the area, with the music being predominantly opera and light opera, but including other classical songs and lighter works from modern musicals.

Some of the well-known singers performing on Sunday are Helen Wheeler, lyric soprano, who studied voice and sang in light opera in Vienna; Jean Canada, lovely mezzo-soprano voice, who also studied in her native Europe; Joe Messineo, whose Italian tenor voice has charmed many, and Christopher Hungerland, bass-baritone, who studied in Vienna and has sung with the Wagner Choral.

Other soloists will include Carole Moran, Nina Russo

Taylor, William Kempin of the Presidio of Monterey, and Gregory Higgins, who is presently appearing at the Studio Theater.

Other members of the ensemble are Lucy Bowman, Clarence Cleary, Anna Flor and Marcella Kother.

The accompanist will be Camille Oleata and her assistant will be Fred Schaad.

Program will include excerpts from Bizet's "Carmen," Verdi's "La Traviata," Puccini's "La Boheme," Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel," "Rigoletto" by Verdi and the "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach.

"Liebes-Lieder" excerpts by Brahms, a famous spiritual, and a few numbers from well known musicals and light operas will round out the program.

Arts, Crafts Show By Altrusa Club

The Altrusa Club of the Monterey Peninsula is sponsoring a charity Arts, Crafts and Bazaar sale at Carmel's Sunset Center on Sunday, Aug. 17, from 2 until 5 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the exhibit and sale, proceeds of which will be used for local scholarships and community service projects. Action will take place in the upper court at the center.

Artists and craftsmen participating will include many who are well known nationally and internationally, as well as some who are new to the area.

Some of these are Lenore Woolams and Gilbert Amberg of the Sculpture Guild of Carmel, who will be joined by Gordon Newell, who has his studio on Cannery Row; Pat Corey of the Graphic Arts Studio and Eleanor Welborn, who specializes in centrifugal cast and enamel jewelry.

Also from Cannery Row is Howard Bradford, serigrapher, whose work may be found at Le Bibliotheque Nationale de France, the Victoria and Albert Museum, England, in addition to the Museum of Modern Art, Library of Congress, Metropolitan Museum, New York, Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Boston Museum of Fine Arts and many others throughout the country.

Paintings by Mrs. Edwin (Marg) Donnellan, Marina, a Monterey Peninsula resident since 1961, will also be shown. Mrs. Donnellan, born and educated in Germany and now an American citizen, was encouraged by several local artists and instructors to paint full time. She has shown locally, and her work can be seen at the United California Bank in Marina and in Carmel Valley.

Albert Wascher, whose small charcoal sketches were bought by many Peninsula residents at last year's show, will be represented, along with George Stevens, painter of miniatures, showing for the first time.

A Pacific Grove high school student, Richard "Chad" Pimentel, will demonstrate Origami, Japanese ornamental paper folding, and his mobiles will be for sale at the bazaar, as well as pottery items from Peninsula Potters, driftwood from the Milton Williams Shop, records, books, candles, gourmet foods, handmade articles, plants, and "un-art" objects. Bazaar items are still being collected, and anyone wishing to donate may call 624-6739 to arrange for pickup.

A feature award of a trip for two to Disneyland will be made at 4 p.m.

"Flute Player" — S. C. Yuan

Carmel Art Association Modern

by Louise Cook

This month the main gallery of the Carmel Art Association displays a more modern flavor than usual.

"Misty Light" by Eric Hitchcock is a pleasing, non-objective composition of soft yellows and golds.

John La Pierre continues to show his affection for San Francisco in his colorful collage of "Telegraph Hill." Another collage, entitled "Morning" by Virginia Fry is overlaid with wildly colored pigments.

The graceful composition of "Flute Player" is done in the unmistakable style and palette of S. C. Yuan in which he achieves his idea with a minimum of detail. Ruth Buffington captures the color and vastness of the West's canyon country in her depiction of "Ancient Shadows."

John Cunningham gives "Coast Lines," a grouping of sunlit trees, the familiar joy and spontaneity of his gay

In the entrance room, Keith Lindberg wades brightly hued figures in "Moody Waters," all done with slashes of rich color.

In the Beardsley Room the "Bird" in the life of artist Robert Davey is "loafing" and seems to peer from his frame with a kinder look than usual.

Eugene Bakes departs from his familiar shimmering, burning light to a composition of cold, shivering grays and greens in "Marsh Wind."

Gerald Wasserman combines an array of overwhelmingly beautiful colors in his abstraction, "The Cafe No. 2."

The Carmel Art Association provides a cross section of art in our area and combines a service both to the artist and the community.

Cabrillo Music Director Adds Youth

Richard Williams will direct the Cabrillo Music Festival at Aptos, in an eight-concert series during the weekends of Aug. 15-17 and 22-24.

Bringing youthful ardor to an exciting program of many musical firsts, the 29-year-old conductor and founder of Amici della Musica, official Festival orchestra, delights in discovering outstanding contemporary scores as well as unusual or often neglected masterworks. He believes this adds sparkle to the well-known traditional items he presents in his concerts, which have been highly acclaimed for the variety they offer.

With the premiere of Carlos Chavez's "Discovery," a work especially commissioned by the Cabrillo Guild of Music to commemorate California's Bicentennial observance this year, Williams is eagerly looking forward to conducting what promises to be an important new major

Local Students To Attend Christian Science Conference

Marilyn M. Rayburn, Agnes Montgomery Stein and Kathleen M. McGibney will be among local college students attending a world wide Christian Science Youth Conference this month in Boston.

Scheduled for Aug. 28, 29, and 30, the conference will feature the theme "Building in a Revolutionary Period." The keynote address will be delivered by Erwin D. Canham, Editor-in-chief of The Christian Science Monitor.

This will be the 7th biennial conference of college students to be held in The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston.

More than 6100 students attended the 1967 Conference and this year college students are expected from 1300 colleges and universities representing more than 30 nations.

The purpose of the Conference is to develop, for today's youth, constructive answers to such challenges as campus unrest, community tensions, racial conflict, drug use, conscientious objection to military service, marriage breakups, morality standards and birth control. Discussions of these topics will be developed from the standpoint that God is the governor in social challenges as well as in personal experience.

HULL NAMED

Roswell L. Hull, M.D., of Hollister and Carmel, has been selected to lead a regional campaign to broaden participation in the leadership and programs of the Heart Association.

Allaire, president of the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, said that the Community Involvement Committee, which Dr. Hull will head, is responsible to study, develop and implement programs designed to increase the involvement of minority groups in the activities of the Heart Association in three counties — San Benito, Santa Cruz and Monterey.

Dr. Hull recently retired as Health Officer for San Benito County. He maintains residence in both Hollister and Carmel.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. From what I have read and heard about Medicare, I am convinced of the importance of early enrollment and I'll apply as early as possible. Are there any papers I should bring with me when I apply?

A. You will need evidence of your date of birth — usually your birth certificate or baptismal certificate. Do not, however, delay early enrollment because you have trouble getting proof of your birthdate. If you have any problems getting evidence, the people in your Social Security office will help you.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o The Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351).

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o The Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351).

Q. My application for disability was denied and the letter said I must wait 6 months before I apply again. Why is this?

A. You misunderstood the letter. Whenever a disability claim is turned down, the Social Security Administration advises the claimant of his right to appeal to have his application reconsidered. The time limit for filing a reconsideration is 6 months from the date a claim is turned down.

Q. What does the term "emergency services" mean under Medicare?

A. Under the health insurance program, emergency services are those out-patient hospital diagnostic services and inpatient hospital services which are necessary to prevent the death or serious impairment of the health of the individual, and which, because of the threat to the life or health of the individual, necessitates the use of the most accessible hospital available and equipped to furnish such services.

Q. When do emergency services end?

A. An emergency no longer exists when it becomes safe from a medical standpoint to move the patient to a participating institution or discharge him, whichever occurs first.

Q. Who determines when an emergency no longer exists?

A. Since only a physician is in a position to determine when an individual can be discharged from care or moved to a participating hospital, the responsibility for determining when an emergency ends rest with the physician.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o The Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351).

Q. My accountant prepared an extra copy of my 1968 tax return and told me to give it to you when I file for my retirement. Why does Social Security want my tax return?

A. It will take several months after you have filed your 1968 tax return for your self-employment income to be posted to your Social Security record. Therefore, any self-employed person who expects to file for Social Security this year should have an extra copy of his 1968 tax return prepared to be used as evidence of his earnings in 1968. This enables the Social Security Administration to give you credit for these earnings immediately, instead of waiting until the return has been processed.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o The Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351).

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"Soul" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon to be heard Sunday in all Christian Science churches. The Responsive Reading includes these verses from Isaiah: "Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee . . . Violence shall no more be heard in thy land, wasting nor destruction within thy borders."

"A demonstration of the facts of Soul in Jesus' way resolves the dark visions of material sense into harmony and immortality." This correlative passage, also from the Lesson-Sermon, is from the denomination's textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

Monterey County's school population was 1,350 in 1858. It was 60,272 in 1969.

How to improve your grades

By The California Teachers Association

Want to get better grades?

If so, Prof. Quiz says, faithfully follow the below study habits checkoff list!

- I have a quiet corner in which to study. ☐
- I have the needed books, pencils, paper, pens, ruler, dictionary, maps, etc. ☐
- I have banned TV, radio, the phone and talk. ☐
- I have read the complete lesson carefully, taking notes of headings and topic sentences. ☐
- I have read the lesson a second time, studying difficult parts until understood. ☐
- I have looked up words I don't know, and followed all directions given by the book. ☐
- I have checked maps and charts as they are mentioned in the book. ☐
- I have answered all questions listed by the teacher. ☐
- I have made up questions of my own, answered and checked them with the book. ☐
- I have followed these steps for each section of the book and corrected any errors. ☐
- I have closed the book and reviewed the material for study by memory. ☐
- I have tried to work within my time limit, but did not sacrifice accuracy for speed. ☐
- After a period of study, about 30 minutes, I gave myself a three to five minute rest. ☐

Prof. Quiz says these hints will help you concentrate. More detailed hints on how to study can be found in booklets in libraries and at bookstores.

Accidents Keep Auto Insurance Rates Up

Automobile insurance rates will not come down — regardless of what plan is offered — unless accidents are reduced in number and severity. This observation was made by Professor Robert F. Borkenstein, chairman of the Department of Public Administration, Indiana University, to the International Association of Insurance Counsel. Professor Borkenstein pointed out that surveys have shown consistently that one of the major causes of accidents are bad drivers whose licenses have been removed, but who still continue to drive. He advocated a massive police drive which would have officers check on drivers who have had licenses revoked and developed various statewide checkpoints for all cars.

The first Monterey County Superintendent of Schools was Seneca Carroll of Carrollton, elected in 1855. However, in 1957 county voters abolished the office, which was reinstated in 1963 by state law.

Expect 6 Million School Pupils

Kindergarten enrollment will be down slightly when pupils enter school this fall, but numbers of students in all other public school grades, adult and higher education continue to increase.

Total public school, college and university enrollment in California is expected to exceed 6 million.

Statistics supplied by the Population Division of the State Department of Finance, the State Department of Education and the Coordinating Council for Higher Education include:

Estimated kindergarten enrollment—367,000, a slight decline of .8 percent. This is the second year of decline in kindergartens. Last year, enrollment was 370,000, a decline of .7 percent.

Enrollments in grades one through eight continue to climb, but at a slower rate. Expected this fall are 2,862,000 students in these grades, an increase of 1.5 percent. Last fall the enrollment was 2,816,139.

Estimated enrollment in grades nine through twelve is 1,265,000, an increase of 3.2 percent over last fall's 1,225,854.

Total expected enrollment for California's junior colleges is 627,874, a 10.5 percent increase. This figure includes both full and part-time students. The estimate for full-time students is 258,276.

Total full and part-time enrollment for the California State Colleges is 223,687, an increase of nearly 5.7 percent. Full-time enrollment is estimated at 149,601.

Many Small Districts

In 1910 California had 3,200 school districts. An estimated 2,500 of these were one-teacher districts of eight grades having fewer than 40 pupils.

Latest figures show that California now has 1,144 operating unified, elementary, high school and junior college districts. Of these districts, 595 (52 per cent) have fewer than 1,000 pupils. Among these are 273 districts (23.8 per cent) with from 100 to 499 pupils, and 201 districts (17.5 per cent) with fewer than 100 pupils.

SECOND PLACE—Members of the San Francisco Marionettes' A Team which swept every event when the Cypress Swim Club hosted the 1969 PAAU Synchronized Swimming Championships at MPC last month met their nemesis in the Santa Clara Aquamaids' A Team recently in Toledo, Ohio. Coming out second to Santa Clara in every event at the National AAU competition were the current holders of the Pacific title (left to right): Barbara Cooney, Barbara Trantina, Heidi O'Rourke, Joan Lang, Susie Morris, Mary Kay Prejean and Lona Gallagher.

According to records in the Monterey County Library, a school principal's salary was $115 a month in 1881.

The earliest record of a school in Monterey County is April 1, 1796. Operated by Manuel Boronda, the school was in Monterey.

CARE Library

A comprehensive booklet describing CARE's lending library of films, slides, and literature is now available free of charge to schools, churches, service organizations, and individuals interested in learning about and helping the developing nations of the world.

A typical film might be the one entitled "Seeds Around the World".

This fifteen minute film shows how the distribution of seeds and agricultural hand-tools helps the underdeveloped countries to increase food production. People in Korea, Africa, and the Middle East are shown working to develop modern agricultural methods.

Other CARE films and slide presentations, varying in length from five minutes to half an hour, depict the relief organizations' work and accomplishments in school construction, community development, and medical assistance. Various countries in South America, Africa, Asia, and the Middle East provide the settings.

The booklet, or audio/visual materials, may be obtained by contacting the Regional CARE Office, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, 94111.

Goings On

Marzi's Monterey Jade Pottery offers interested groups a great tour through the factory... enlightening and entertaining for a morning or afternoon trek through the valley up to the Village... Glen Mewhinney is featuring Edith Brattin's paintings at his Art Center Gallery. Edith reports two oils were sold last week and that she is now working on pastel portraits... Alice Mehdy and the children are back at Oleander Nursery after taking in the marvels of the San Diego Zoo and the Marineland aquatic shows as well... Harry Conley says Pat Nixon is the recipient of one of his scarves... Virginia de Maria is a professional potter whose beautiful floor tiles have graced many public and private buildings. She designed and made all the

"sunburst" logos at Rippling River Resort... Marian Wilson of the In and Out-door Shop and the Carmel Valley Gallery is back from San Francisco Gift Show, and as usual good things are hard to find. It takes an eagle eye and good strong feet to comb a show and Marian must have both as her lovely shop testifies in its array of hand selected prestige merchandise... The Plaza Linda Restaurant has a new super-duper Tostada—some nine or ten inches in diameter—The tender tortilla is toasted to perfection, then slathered with a fragrant meat and bean concoction—heaped with shredded lettuce, tomato, pepper, and avocado—laced with sour cream—with an icy bottle of Carta Blanca. A meal in itself. Ole!!! From Laureles Lodge the

Who's To Know

Not too many years ago Jenny Diaz decided to drive over the mountain from Salinas to see what Carmel Valley Village looked like. She loved its looks and came again and again, each time noticing a charming little building just beyond the post office on the Carmel Valley Road. It intrigued her mainly because it had a "For Rent" sign in the window. She talked about it at home to her husband, who owned a shoe repair shop in Salinas, and to her two boys and daughter. She talked about taking this shop and serving good Mexican food there at lunch time. She quit talking about it and did it.

It was immediately successful. She was prevailed upon to serve dinner as well. The family backed her up and came to help cook and serve, and the first thing they knew a year had passed. After a family conference, Dean Diaz, Senior, sold his shoe repair shop and the move was made from the little shop to the present location on Del Fino Place, Plaza de Flores. The sons soon took over the kitchen and daughter-in-law Josie, and Jenny and her daughter took over the table service. Dean was the host, and as they grew, various cousins were brought in to serve. When they ran out of cousins, Dan Tavares made his appearance.

Their growth has been gratifying to watch. They are all American born, being from the Fresno and Salinas areas. Dean Jr. can speak Spanish, but does not read or write it. He took it in school but it was as hard for him as it would be for you and me. They are probably one of the most closely knit families possible... gentle... kind... and soft spoken... truly a joy to be around. This same mood prevails at the restaurant, and it is always pleasant to relax there at lunch or dinner... or in mid afternoon for a cold Carta Blanca Beer with an order of guacamole... mmmmm.

Their food is reasonably hot, pepper-wise designed for the gringo palate... and offers an interesting variety. Their innovations include a very large tortilla which is served either with melted cheese and makes a great cocktail, hors d'oeuvre type thing, or as a giant tostada heaped with the beans and meat and salad topping with a drizzle of sour cream over all... both really especially good and worth your attention next time you are all set for a really good Mexican dinner or luncheon.

As they grew, they expanded into the front area of the Cummings Building, still keeping the entrance in the old dining room off the patio. This area houses a small bar for private parties, and is the scene of guitar playing and singing and Flamenco dancers from time to time. It also is a gallery shop specializing in Mexican hand crafts which the family select when they are in Mexico from time to time.

Dan Tavares, who used to work with Dru at the Keeping Room in its old location, specializing in displays and arrangements, has developed a great flair in this direction. He put the gift shop together at the Plaza Linda, and is to be commended upon the tasteful job he has done for the Diaz's.

It is a happy place... a happy family... and happy one must be with their good food... so have a happy and go there soon.

Hillsides like these may well be a blaze of saffron hues come springtime and wildflower time due to the efforts of people like the Charles Darlands of Carmel Valley Village. Each fall he and Mrs. Darland take a hike into the hills on the north side of the Village and scatter California poppy seeds—some 80 to 100 pounds of them—hoping eventually the expected seed pods will reseed even more effectively the long range of the now browning hills. What a pleasant thought—what a worthy effort—what a happy bounty for the whole community. For others who would go and do likewise be mindful says Edith Brattin of Brattin Nurseries, that the seeds should be sown just before our first rains are due in November or December usually. The wild birds would eat them if they stay on the ground dry too long. Plan a picnic—along with the potato salad and cold meat loaf sandwiches and deviled eggs, take a pound or two of wild California poppy seeds available from Ferry Morse, Hollister—and leave a lasting memento for all to enjoy on the hills above the village. When we have that springtime blaze of wildflower glory that fills the valley meadows and hillsides from Rt. 1 to Rt. 101 next March and April.

That's the advice of educators to qualified high school seniors who have not yet applied for admission to the college of their choice.

Most educators agree that "the last safe date" for application, particularly to a major college, is November of the student's senior year.

If you're a high school junior, you can start bracing for college entrance tests you'll be bound to take this year. And if you're a younger student—even down to the seventh grade—there are things you can do now to ensure a college education in your future.

As students prepare to enter the 1969-70 school year, the California Teachers Association (CTA) repeats advice it offers to parents and students each year. Here are some ideas the CTA suggests to help achieve college goals.

SEVENTH GRADE

Student, parents and school staff should work together on academic goals necessary to qualify for college, including consideration of whether the student should go into any advanced classes in the eighth grade.

EIGHTH GRADE

Decide on ninth-grade courses—they will begin to govern the type of college to which the student can apply.

Christian Science Radio Program

This Sunday the program in The Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You" will be titled "Getting Along with Parents." It will be heard Sunday over stations KGO at 7:15, KRML at 7:45 and KDON at 8:45. This program tells of the need for one to turn to his Father-Mother God as a guide in his human relationships.

In 1853 there were 49 public schools in California, two of them in Monterey County—Monterey and San Juan.

NINTH GRADE

By this time it should be possible to interpret the student's abilities in various subject areas. They may point more clearly to a career choice, and therefore a college choice.

TENTH GRADE

At this stage in the student's development his school should be able to recommend subject areas of concentration for college-bound students—more math, more science, more languages—so his college application will be accepted.

ELEVENTH GRADE

This is the year the college preparatory student should start studying college catalogs, reference books and materials explaining the tests he may take—Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, or others. These tests give a preliminary look at how the student has been doing. At the end of his junior year, the high school determines his class standing. The standing and test scores will usually be included in any transcript submitted for college entrance.

SENIOR YEAR

More tests are given. One is the Scholastic Aptitude Test, also known as the College Boards. It is used in determining National Merit Scholars (NMS) from semi-finalists chosen through the NMS Qualifying Test the previous year. By the senior year, the student must decide where he's going and he should have applied for entrance to the colleges in which he is interested. And he should understand the financial resources needed to pay the costs of college—at either public or private institutions.

WHAT CAN PARENTS DO?

Encourage each child to read widely. Take him to the public library for a library card. Set an example by following good reading habits yourself.

Provide a well-lighted, quiet place for study.

Make sure your youngster's course of study, especially important in the 9-12 grade span, is suitable for his plans now, yet flexible enough to allow him to shift gears if he changes his mind.

Remember, pupils need rest and relaxation, too. Don't make them concentrate all their energies on study.

F. Kibler Awarded Vietnamese Medal

Quartermaster Second Class Francis B. Kibler, U.S. Navy, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Kibler of The Sea Ranch, Calif., was awarded the Vietnamese Staff Service Medal, Second Class by the Chief of Operations of the Vietnamese Navy, Commander Vu Dinh Dao, in ceremonies held at Vietnamese Navy Headquarters in Saigon, July 5.

The 23-year-old Petty Officer won the medal for his services while assigned to the Vietnamese Navy's Intelligence Bureau, Sea Charts and Hydrography Section, as an advisor.

In the citation accompanying the award, Petty Officer Kibler was singled out for his contributions to the Vietnamese Navy "in assisting in the procurement of required sea charts, hydrographic material and navigational data."

The award-recipient is a graduate of Carmel High School, class of 1964.

Petty Officer Kibler entered the U. S. Navy in September 1964, and reported for duty in the Republic of Vietnam in July, 1968.

Five school districts were formed in Monterey County in 1850. In 1969 there were 27 districts.

Arnot Protests School Board Budget Hike Based On Assessed Valuation

(Editor's Note: At the meeting of the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education on Wednesday, Aug. 6, Harold C. Arnot, a resident of Carmel Point and representing the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association, made a presentation that the Pine Cone considers worthy of reproduction in part. The ADA referred to in the following is Average Daily Attendance, upon which the school budgets are based.)

As a resident of this district, I would like to express my appreciation for the public service this board is performing. Deciding on a budget is always difficult, but is particularly so this year because of the natural desire to excel as a school district and also the realization that because of inflated costs of living, more and more people are finding it difficult to meet new demands.

There is nothing in the Carmel School District budget as published in the Pine Cone that would indicate this board is trying to reduce the rapidly rising cost of government.

On the contrary, it seems you are taking advantage of "inflated values" and trying to prove Prof. Parkinson was right when he said—"Expenditure rises to meet income."

The 1967-68 figures on the cost per ADA show that Monterey and Pacific Grove are spending about $600 per student. The same figures show Carmel has a cost of over $800, or one third more than the other two districts.

In view of the tremendous effort that is being made to control inflation, the Carmel board has a real opportunity to contribute something by at least "holding the line."

But the new budget figures indicate that except for the Junior College which is 33 per cent, Carmel has the highest increase on the Monterey Peninsula. The published figures are:

MONTEREY—20,000 ADA—Total expenditure $14,072,000. Cost per ADA $700. Increase $593,000.

PACIFIC GROVE—4,000 ADA—Total expenditure $2,952,000—Cost per ADA $740. No increase.

CARMEL—3,000 ADA—$3,796,000, an increase in total expenditures of $710,000, or 24 per cent. Cost per ADA $1,265—80 per cent more than Monterey and 71 per cent more than Pacific Grove.

Every government agency has legitimate reasons for increasing the cost of the particular service they perform. Sanitary Districts extend trunk lines and improve treatment plants to prevent pollution—The sheriff hires more deputies to combat increased crime—The Welfare agency needs more money for assistance to needy families—State legislators have increased their budget to study the rising demand for tax reform—Cities need more federal aid and the federal government needs more departments to decide how much they should get.

This year, the 20 million people in California will be asked to pay about $5 billion in property tax—probably six billion in other state taxes—and over $20 billion in federal taxes. Boiled down, it amounts to over $1500 per capita, but only one third of the people will, under present procedures, pay most of the bill.

It is hard to understand why Carmel wants to increase their budget by 24 per cent when they are already one of the highest in the state. But, it is understandable, because, justifiably, they want to do the best job possible. But so do all the other school districts in California and many of them are having a hard time just "getting by."

Basically then, something is wrong and as everyone had known for some time, it is the use of the confusing, inequitable and obsolete property tax as a base. It is creating far more problems than it solves.

Everything about the Carmel area makes it ideal for retirement. It has quiet, pleasant surroundings, moderate climate, no industry and, so far only a limited number of tourists. As a result, it has a low factor of children per family and therefore in the "jargon of the property tax" is considered a "rich school district."

On the contrary, one third of the homes are well below the average and 74 per cent of the property tax is assessed against single family residents.

Can we justify increasing an already high cost per ADA, because a questionable formula indicates the people in the Carmel School District can afford it?

If we believe Dr. Conant's statement that we should strive for "equality of educational opportunity for all children," how can we justify the unusually high cost per student in Carmel as compared to other school districts? Even though we assume the cost of education is the determining factor of quality, and there seems to be some question about this, the present system of trying to adequately and equitably finance education by increasing the tax burdens on residential property leaves a lot to be desired.

There is no "free money." The federal government is in debt, the state government is in debt and local governments are in debt. Isn't it logical therefore that the first step in "tax reform" is to reduce spending?

Many tax assessing units have carefully considered their budget and find it is impossible to avoid an increase. The Carmel School budget shows an increase that would indicate there is room for substantial reductions. You are the elected representatives of the people and your judgment will be final.

Our request is that you take into consideration the unusual conditions that the present restricted economy is going to have on many families in this district.

Again, let me express the appreciation of the community for the fine public service you are performing as members of the Carmel School Board.

Smoking Clinic Is Effective

Eighty per cent of those participating in the recent smoking clinic at All Saints' Episcopal Church had not smoked a cigarette at the end of the five days, according to Theodore Curtis who organized the clinic.

Films and speakers were helpful, but most helpful of all was the association with others who wanted to quit the habit.

Another five-day clinic will begin on Sunday, Aug. 17, in Grant Hall at All Saints' at 7:30 p.m. There is no charge.

For reservations call the church office at 624-3883. The group is limited to 20 persons.

Movie Review

Chitty Chitty Bang Bang—Dick Van Dyke is a funny man. He makes the most of this situation comedy in which he is a crackpot inventor who zips up an old racing car to fly and float. At the Grove in Pacific Grove.

Rascal—A delightful Walt Disney production centered around a raccoon and a parcel of mischief. Steve Forrest is an errant father, Bill Mumy is his adolescent son. Walter Pidgeon does off-screen narration. At the Valley Cinema.

The Thomas Crown Affair—Steve McQueen and Faye Dunaway star in this sophisticated crime story. The chess scene and the kissing scene are classics. That is, if you believe the publicity. At the State.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas—This stars Peter Sellers, which for most people is quite enough. Story of a conservative Jewish lawyer who falls in love with a hippie. Great film at the Village Theater.

Blackbeard's Ghost—Walt Disney movie about a pirate's ghost that is doomed to wander in limbo until he does a good deed on earth. Peter Ustinov is a wonderful Blackbeard. At the Valley Cinema.

That Cold Day in the Park—Sandy Dennis and Michael Burns in a dramatic film about a lonely, wealthy spinster and a bum. A succession of sexy incidents leads to a tragic climax. At the Stefnbeck.

The Chairman—Gregory Peck is a Nobel Prize winner in biochemistry who undertakes an espionage mission in Red China. Exciting spy stuff with tiny transmitters in Peck's skull and the whole bit. At the Golden Bough.

Bonnie and Clyde—A bold and brassy film of an unsavory era. The pace is furious, the cast, which includes Faye Dunaway, Warren Beatty and Michael J. Pollard, is great. At the Carmel Illage Theater.

How to Commit Marriage—You'll never believe this (or maybe you will) but a chimp whumps Bob Hope at golf. Story about the generation gay with Hope, Jackie Gleason, Tina Louise, Jane Wyman. Irwin Corey plays a crooked guru. At the State.

Oliver!—This Academy Award winner is based on the Charles Dickens novel Oliver Twist. From the London musical stage and directed by Sir Carol Reed. At Cinema 70.

Funny Girl—Barbra Streisand's first movie. Life story of Fanny Brice. Omar

Vixen—Erica Gavin, one of the most generously endowed of the new screen sirens, in a plotty bit with racial strife, sex, the draft, sex, the Vietnam war, sex and communism... and sex. At the Hill.

Broadway Smash 'George M!' Becomes Studio Theater Smash Hit As Well

George M. Cohan virtually ruled Broadway musical comedy in the early part of the 20th century, and his music was on the lips of the entire nation.

During World War I, his "Over There," "You're A Grand Old Flag" and "Yankee Doodle Dandy" set the flames of patriotism burning high.

"George M.!" opened last week at the Studio Theater-Restaurant, and the entire play is just an excuse for the cast tossing some George M. Cohan songs.

So stand up and cheer! I wouldn't care if a flock of people just stood around and sang, as long as the songs were Cohan's.

But when a flock of people toss in a few dance routines and carry along what small vestige of a story line that exists through some clever sound and sight effects, it makes for an evening of truly nostalgic entertainment for us oldsters, and serves to introduce the youngsters to some timeless music.

Mary Cohan has had a hand in modifying some of the lyrics, and the book by Michael Stewart and John and Fran Pascal is a labor of love.

Johnny Soprano plays Cohan with an exceptional depth of understanding of the role. He plays Cohan as Cohan must have been, his voice meets the challenge of the wide range of Cohan song types, and the few dance numbers he is called upon to do he accomplishes with skill.

Dale Lefler, who directed, staged and choreographed the production, also plays the part of Cohan's father. He does them all with the deft touch of a true professional.

LaVonne Rae Andrews is Agnes Nolan and Fay Templeton, both of whom figured prominently in Cohan's life, and you realize what a glorious voice she has in the number, "Mary."

Debbie Berry as Ethel Levey, Cohan's first wife, has a haunting beauty that is perfect for ill-fated Ethel, and Jeannie M. Hughes pleased the audience as Cohan's mother, Nellie.

The sets and lighting by Bob Evans Jr., the period costuming by Marilyn Hellman and Judy Evans (and what a job that must have been!), and the piano accompaniment of Gary Carver were all outstanding.

This is the first non-professional production of "George M.!" and the cast and staff of the Studio Theater more than adequately get the job done professionally.

"George M.!" plays every evening except Monday and Tuesday, with the Studio's outstanding dinner at 6:30, curtain at 8:30 except on Sunday, when everything is an hour earlier. For reservations, which are a virtual must, call 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Junior College Districts

Of the 68 junior college districts in California, only one, Los Angeles, enrolls more than 50,000 pupils. There are 11 districts (16.1 per cent) that enroll from 10,000 to 24,999 pupils. Most pupils, however, attend the 47 districts (69.1 per cent) that enroll from 1,000 to 9,999 pupils. Only nine districts (13.3 per cent) have less than 1,000 pupils. One of these has less than 500 pupils, and none has less than 100 pupils.

by Phyllis Jervey

"What Makes Lebanon So Fascinating?"

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Gilcreast, originally from Boston and now a part of Carmel, told us which country they most prefer other than their own.

It is Lebanon, where they spent three very happy, absorbing years.

Alden was with the Trans-Arabian Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil. Their daughter Ann attended the American University in Beirut. Only 8 Americans were among the 3,000 students and Ann enjoyed every moment plus achieving the highest of scholastic standings.

While husband and daughter were occupied, Mrs. Alden (Ruth) made friends with the Lebanese who are so cordial. As Lebanon is half Christian and half Moslem, they are more liberal, Ruth tells us, about entertaining than other Near and Middle Eastern countries.

Knowing local people helped immensely for the Gilcreasts to go places they would otherwise perhaps never have seen. Such as off the beaten track underground rivers and caves and historical ruins of biblical times. The Cedars of Lebanon are a beautiful sight seen from splendidly modern hotels.

But what intrigued the Gilcreasts were the out-of-the-way mountain cafes. There they relished the chicken and lamb kebabs roasted over charcoal on skewers. In these spots, people brought everything but the broiled meats such as salads, fruits, tea and other drinks.

In fact, Ann who was concerned about being late for a dance back in Beirut, decided to set her hair in their Fiat en route. Nothing but a thermos of sweet warmish tea! Undaunted, Ann created a coiffure from this novel lotion.

Of especial interest to us here is that in Beirut and environs practically everything is grown that we enjoy in Carmel and the Valley. From that coast line, where swimming is year round, they could go up to the ski region in a short time.

Mediterranean semi-tropical fruits such as oranges, bananas, coconuts and grapefruit on the coast. Apples, apricots, grapes in the mountain region. What a delightful contrast!

The Gilcreasts are so perceptive that it is a veritable revelation to hear about their many adventures . . . told in such an off hand way . . . but with marvelous humor.

However it is time for us to give you Ruth's favorite Lebanese recipes. What an inventive person Ruth is on her own. Exquisite china collected in the right places and used with flair for the connoisseur . . . but never ostentatiously.

A perfect meal, served at small tables with everything delicately matched and blended . . . and brought in as if they still have the well trained servants they became devoted to overseas.

After a selection of drinks and tempting "go-alongs" which Alden deftly arranges (the drinks are his, the appetizers . . . Ruth's), we especially appreciate

(the national favorite)

Soak ½ lb. bourghol (cracked wheat) in warm water for 10 minutes. Grind 1 lb. lean raw lamb twice. Divide in half. To one half of the lamb, add one finely chopped onion, one minced garlic clove, ½ t. salt and the bourghol. Mix well.

In a heavy skillet heat ¼ cup olive oil. In this lightly brown half a cup pine nuts. Remove and set aside. Add more oil to pan if necessary and saute remaining lamb with one finely chopped onion for 10 min. Sprinkle with a bit of powdered cinnamon and mix in well. Add pine nuts and stir again.

Grease baking dish (8x10) with olive oil. Spread half the lamb and bourghol mixture in bottom pressing down well. Place ALL of the lamb mixture on top. Press down again. Cover with remaining meat and bourghol mixture. Sprinkle very lightly with olive oil.

Score in diamond pattern. Cut down to bottom of pan, as cutting is difficult after baking. Bake 45 min. in 350 F. oven. Remove and separate pieces. This is a delightfully crunchy finger food for cocktails or a fine luncheon or supper dish with stuffed eggplant, zucchini, cucumber or cabbage dolmas . . . and a tossed green salad. Arab bread is marvelous with this. The Mediterranean Market or International Market (on Fisherman's Wharf) carry these specialties.

TABOULI SALAD

Two lbs. bourghol (cracked wheat); 10 green onions, minced; 2 garlic cloves, minced; 1½ cups parsley.

School Pressures Problem For Some

Whether parents realize it or not, subtle pressures are on the increase for children to succeed in school and at almost anything he or she tries.

Pressures, however, are not all bad, according to a new National Education Association (NEA) pamphlet, "Pressures on Children and Youth."

"The emotionally healthy individuals finds ways to deal with conflicts as they arise and become more mature through each experience," the pamphlet says.

"It is when the pressures are too many or when they come before the child is able to cope with them that they result not in learning but in varying degrees of mental or physical disturbance."

Some common signs of too much pressure are listed by the pamphlet as temper tantrums, cheating in school, delinquent behavior, inability to study or total absorption in studies, sudden dullness or apathy, little response from child to friends, secretive behavior, unusual restlessness, agitation, poor eating, nail biting, twitching or stuttering.

While the pamphlet warns there is little parents can do to eliminate most of the pressures on children, hints to parents that can provide guidance include:

Rather than retreating from the problem, or capitulation, help the child face it with some kind of action to reduce stress. Such an approach is consistent with sound mental health since it helps the child determine the most effective action for the circumstances.

Let your child know that you care about his or her problems and are available and willing to help.

Be a positive force in your child's life, not his or her major pressure point. Do not push children into social or educational experiences at too early an age.

Teach children to live with limitations, since no one excels in everything and no one is perfect. A healthy attitude toward handicaps and strengths is most important.

Children should have time that is theirs alone. They need time to think, dream, plan and make decisions.

Help your children form good study habits as soon as they begin steady homework assignments.

Parents should have a value system and ground children in good, ethical values at an early age. "Students who have cheated in school report a wish for more parental direction, firm rules, and guidance in determining right or wrong," the pamphlet points out.

Teenagers should be encouraged to develop self-responsibility through such activities as volunteer community service, which provide cooperative rather than competitive activity, and useful and socially necessary work.

"Most young children desire to be 'good' that is, to live up to, the expectations of parents and teachers."

"Many feel pressured when they find they cannot always achieve this goal. In the same vein, children feel pressured by the rigid physical discipline required in some schools," the pamphlet concludes.

in warm water to cover for 2 hours. Drain and squeeze dry. Put in bowl and add rest of ingredients in order given. Traditionally, this is served in a bowl surrounded by the inner scoop-shaped leaves of romaine lettuce. The lettuce is used spoon-fashion and everyone helps himself. It may also be served on a bed of lettuce on individual salad plates, but "scooping" is half the fun.

If you want to elaborate and serve two very fine appetizers or spreads at the start of the meal, Ruth says to try these Lebanese specialties:

SAMBOUZIKS

Grind one lb. raw lean lamb, twice, grinding a medium onion with second grinding. Add to this mixture ¼ cup pine nuts lightly toasted, ¼ cup minced parsley, ¼ t. salt and a good pinch of oregano. Mix well. Moisten with lemon juice.

Using your favorite pastry recipe or mix, make one full pastry batch. Roll and cut into rounds with cookie cutter. Place a t. of lamb mixture on each round, fold over and seal. Bake in 375 F. oven 15 min. or until brown. Serve hot.

HOMMOUS PETINI

Soak 1 lb. chick peas overnight. Drain and rinse. Cover with water, add ½ t. baking soda and cook until soft. Drain, place in bowl and mash. Add 2 garlic cloves, pressed. Mix and drizzle ¼ cup sesame oil into mixture with 3 T. lemon juice. Mix in well. Serve cold in bowl as spread. Sprinkle top with minced parsley or toasted sesame seeds.

What a splendid life! But Carmel satisfies Ruth and Alden although they will continue to have little suppers Lebanese style for friends here amongst the pine and cypress within the sight and sound of Carmel Bay.

Michael Adams In Dual AF Duties

Doctor Michael Adams, one of 25 pilot-physicians in the U. S. Air Force, added three additional accomplishments to his already unusual career during a recent day at Bitburg AB, Germany.

Dr. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Adams, famed Carmel photographer, donned gold maple leaf insignia to denote his promotion to the grade of major. He also assumed the position of chief of aerospace medicine at the Bitburg USAF hospital and qualified as an F-4 Phantom aircraft commander.

The flight surgeon and senior pilot attained membership in the small elite group of medical officers who hold dual duty ratings through what is probably a unique route.

The physician, who has accrued more than 2,350 air hours, explains, "In practically every case, pilot-physicians are doctors who are selected to take pilot training and are then assigned to squadrons with primary flying duties. My case is just the opposite. I was a pilot first and became a doctor on my own time. My primary duties will be as a doctor."

The 35-year-old major was commissioned through the aviation cadet program.

Initially a B-26 Invader bomber pilot, Dr. Adams flew F-86 Saber Jet fighters during an assignment in Japan and later F-100 Super Sabres at Gammon AFB, N.M.

Dr. Adams completed his degree requirements through an Air Force program for senior medical students in 1967.

Personals

THERE is nothing like starting the day eating breakfast under a weeping ash tree surrounded by bright geraniums and multicolor impatiens, with begonias dripping down overhead.

There is nothing like dining on flannel cakes oozing with sour cream and fresh raspberry jam. Or a he-man serving of cowboy eggs scrambled with green peppers, onions and potatoes, and home made bread hot out of the oven, dripping with pure butter.

There is nothing like a luncheon of Swiss Quiche Lorraine made with Dru's chablis wine custard. Or a gourmet sandwich on thin sourdough double-seeded rye layered with turkey and caper cream, ham and Dijon mustard, Swiss, and Russian dressing and champagne sauerkraut.

There is just nothing at all like the Keeping Room, 6 Pilot Rd., Plaza de Flores, Carmel Valley Village, planted between Brattin and Oleander Nurseries. Breakfast 8:00 to 11:00, lunch 12:00 to 3:00, tea 3:00 to 4:30. Closed Monday. Phone 659-2512.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A PANORAMIC VIEW OF POINT LOBOS AND THE VALLEY? We have it in the form of a two-bedroom, den or third bedroom, dining ell, two baths, two-car attached garage with a turnaround paved driveway, a minimum maintenance rear yard, a landscaped front yard, and it is located on Martin Road, a quiet cul du sac. Ideal for a couple. Fully insulated with beautiful hardwood floors, this home would be practically impossible to replace for the acquisition fee of $58,500. Exclusive.

We have a COMSTOCK-built home in LA RANCHERIA waiting for the family with not more than two horses, who appreciate quality. Consisting of two bedrooms and a den or third bedroom, two and a half baths, a completely modern kitchen and one of the finest BBQ family rooms in the Valley, this home provides the outlook from every room for which the Valley has become famous. The landscaping is outstanding. There are also two grape-stake-fenced dog runs. The animals are not a requirement. It is just becoming quite difficult to find places where you can keep animals. This 3,000-plus-square-foot home on its acre-plus site would be impossible to replace at the price of $73,500. Owners are going back to Hawaii. Take advantage of this opportunity.

IF YOU PLAN ON RETIRING IN CARMEL IN THE NEAR FUTURE, why not buy your home now. We have a little two-bedroom contemporary with a built-in tenant who would like to continue to live in it. You can't go too far wrong at $27,500 for this charming little home.

Wood Votes For Inventory Bill

Assemblyman Bob Wood announced that the Assembly overwhelmingly approved a bill which would increase the inventory tax exemption from 15% to 30%.

The measure, AB 193 (Bagley), passed after an attempt was made by parliamentary maneuvering to kill the bill. The final vote for passage was 63 to 8.

Wood stated that "many business firms have been hampered with this unfair tax. To double the exemption is a start in creating the business climate which will mean more jobs and income for the people of Monterey County."

Bob Wood indicated that since the inventory tax is levied against high inventories, it tends to tax those business concerns that are not selling their merchandise more than those that are successful. This has caused many marginal enterprises to collapse under the weight of this harsh tax.

This bill now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Wood Names Secretary

Laguna Seca Offers Trans-Am Series

With Ford's Mustangs fighting to regain the Detroit auto manufacturers point lead, the Aug. 23-24 Trans-American Sedan Championship race at Monterey's famed Laguna Seca takes on added importance.

Defending champion Mark Donohue's victory at St. Jovite, Quebec in a Roger Penske-Camaro puts Chevrolet in the lead for the first time this year.

Monterey's Ed Leslie in the second Penske Camaro was third behind Titus at St. Jovite.

Trailing the Mustangs through the first six races in the 12 race, $300,000 series—largely on the strength of former Indy-500 winner Parnelli Jones' two victories in Ford-backed cars—the Camaros emerged from the seventh race in Canada with a slim 49 to 46 lead.

Pontiac's Firebirds led by Jerry Titus' second place showing at St. Jovite, moved up to 21 points, while the American Motors Javelin team trails in fourth place.

German-backed Porsches hold a big lead over the Alfa Romeo and BMW teams in the under-2-liter class. The Aug. 10 go at Watkins Glen, N. Y. proceeds the West Coast series debut at Laguna Seca.

Tickets for the Aug. 23-24 racing weekend are on sale at all Macy's stores in northern California.

County Board Adopts Budget

The Monterey County Board of Education Aug. 7 adopted the 1969-70 County Office of Education budget.

The $3,851,340 budget calls for a tax rate of 14.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation, up 2.8 cents from last year. However, board members noted the increase occurred in service areas mandated by state law and out of board control.

The tax necessary to operate the budget item completely within local control, County Office administration, decreased slightly.

City Council

matter, along with Forest Theater and Sunset Center questions, to the Council's public welfare committee.

Speaking of Sunset Center, the Council concluded Tuesday night's session with a preliminary discussion of budget items that concerned it. Last night it began with Sunset Center and—hours later—ended a long evening's work without finally arriving at even tentative conclusions about all the Sunset Center items.

Nearly $48,000 was listed as capital outlay at Sunset for the just completed 1968-69 fiscal year. This amount included $30,298.50 for the new seats now being installed in the Sunset Auditorium.

An amount of $22,722 was proposed for fiscal 1969-70, and it was while considering this amount that the Council adjourned until next Tuesday. Earlier last night the Council had cut $1,000 out of the proposed $42,886 operating budget in fiscal 1969-70 for Sunset.

The deepest budget cut was made last night in the proposed sum to be allocated to the city's Harrison Memorial Library. Some $98,320 had been asked by the Library board. This was cut by the Council to $89,000—after a long discussion among Council members and after hearing from Library Board member Mrs. Richard Sippel. Even this amount was substantially higher than the $86,000 which was appropriated for the Library in the 1969-69 fiscal year. (Carmel's per capita library costs are the highest in the state—some two-and-a-half times higher than that of the next highest city, Pasadena).

Also suffering budget cuts last night was the Public Works department's capital outlay account. A two-way communications system, listed at $6,385, was deleted and so was $1,450 for a concrete mixer to add to $3,000 appropriated for a similar purpose in the preceding year. Left intact in the Public Works capital outlay budget were two new trucks at a cost of $11,587, as well as a sprayer at $4,044.

The two new trucks are to replace two of the older trucks in the Public Works department's stable of 11 trucks. In addition to those eleven, a new pickup truck for use of Public Works Superintendent William Askew was authorized.

Small cuts were made in various funds intended for the use of the various city departments—$900 in the Police dept., $900 in the Fire dept., $1,000 in the Public Works dept., $1,200 in parks & parkways funds, $1,064 in the Planning dept., $500 at the Police-Public Works bldg., and $200 at the City Hall offices.

Capital outlay funds proposed for use at the city's Forest Theater were tentatively cut in half—from $6,000 down to $3,000—but this may be reconsidered. Funds for Forest Theater and Sunset Center programming were reduced by $1,000—from $4,500 to $3,500.

THE STUFF OF FRIENDSHIP—This gavel and plaque were presented to the city of Petra, sister city of Carmel, by Mayor Barney Lalolo on July 21 at a dinner honoring a visiting group from Spain and Mallorca. The group had come to California in celebration of the state's Bicentennial and the 200th anniversary of Father Serra's founding of the first California mission. The plaque was designed and executed by Carmel sculptor Howell Armor, and includes a gavel and striking block. The block is fashioned of live oak, the gavel of High Sierra juniper and the plaque of California myrtle or Petra wood. The head of the gavel is fastened to the handle with wedges of California copper, silver and gold.

VINTAGE YEAR—Alton Walker sits proudly in his latest concourse competition model. It is a 1926 Dodge sport roadster with standard khaki top and natural wood wheels. This is an identical car to the one he used for his honeymoon trip in 1926. In fact, Walker thinks it could very easily be the same car. He hopes it is. Up to about 12 years ago, the car was used on a Kansas City farm. Walker purchased the car in Glen Ellyn, Illinois. Other recent acquisitions include a Model T Ford and a 1949 Mulliner Touring Rolls Royce.
